This line should be match in target document also same exist in target document

This is SECOND line should be match in target document also same exist in target document

This is new line will Not be exist is Target Document only Exist in Source document

This type of similar line would be exist in target document which is only match when theresold is under 100%

This is five word line

This type of is seven word line

All terminal boxes shall be made of cast iron, or steel plate. The cover shall have neoprene joints and shall be screwed to the box.

The locked rotor current values at rated voltage and frequency, shall be less than 660% of rated current for motors rated up to 1000 kW and less than 550% for motors of more than 1000 kW. These are maximum values of current, in these values are already included the tolerances.